Dedicated by patrons and friends in memory of Elizabeth Weatherman who passed away
August 15th, 1937. She was a teacher for six years in the schools of Prince William County, the major part in Brentsville District High. Her passing took from the boys and girls a teacher of unusual ability and attractive personality whose whole demeanor portrayed her Christian character.

A beautiful life is ended;
She has reached the longed for goal;
Her spirit from earth hath ascended
To that mansion prepared for the soul.

CLASS SONG

On this eve of graduation
May our voices ring afar;
Grateful for the education
That has made us what we are.
May the words by teachers spoken
And the friendships founded here;
Be a guide and treasured token
That shall drive away our fear.

Chorus:

Yes, we've worked and played together;
Met disaster hand in hand;
Struggled in a great endeavor,
Each assignment to command.
Now, we're through with High School duties;
Labor's road before us lies,
And in pathways void of beauties,
We, this fellowship, shall prize.

Soon will come our separation;
Some shall crave an humble name;
Others strive in desperation
For the thrill of worldly fame.
Even when school cares are ended
And we bear a greater weight,
We shall yearn for friends befriended
In the class of Thirty-Eight. J. R. B.

OUR CLASS POEM

Classmates, all our future lies before us
Like a path of pure, white snow;
We must trod it resolutely,
For our tracks will surely show.

Then let us make a perfect pattern
Hewn from knowledge and desire,
And include the dreams of childhood,
Lest they simmer and expire.

Fellowship and joy of school days
Forms the framework of this art,
Anger, malice, and contemptment
Are banished exiles from the heart.

Next, we'll put the many lessons,
Moral and scholastic, too,
Learned through patient days of study;
Designed to make our lives more true;

Life is not a painted picture,
Shaded with only blissful hues;
So we'll give a place to dark clouds
And learn to bear the dullest views.

Of all the great men we've known or studied
Not one was ever heard to say,
"My work is done; my pattern useless,
I'll idle the remaining years away.

But we shall keep our pattern ever;
Walk the straighter, better ways,
And perform each task before us,
'Till the expiration of our days. W. E. S.

CLASS HISTORY

On a beautiful autumn day in the year of '34, thirty nine "green-horns" registered to begin a career upon the sea of high hopes with a definite goal-graduation. For the first few days, it took most of our time to become adapted to new surroundings and to learn our new fellow students. But soon, we had slipped into the right notches and our trials and tasks had begun in full swing. During the first year we lost one of our gang, Elzora Allen, who moved to Occoquan. Also there were others who did not think they could shoulder the burdens and left the dear high school forever. As the year rolled around, we found that we had mastered our first year; and with greater determination, we began our second wave on the sea of hope.

Our number had been decreased to twenty-five, but we still struggled on with our little band. During the summer Parthena Perkins had moved to Washington where she continued her schooling. A few weeks after school had begun, our number decreased to twenty four when Galen Sutphin had entered Fairfax High School.

During this year we had the pleasure of publishing one issue of the "Flash", with Winifred Swank as editor-in-chief. Although this was our first attempt, we were commended on its success. This was the outstanding event of our sophomore year.

As Juniors we were sixteen in number, and eleven others who had not been so fortunate in progress joined us. Also, Cornelia Miller from North River High School spent her Junior year with us. In April, we presented a three-act play entitled "Under Western Skies". The leading roles were played by Louise Brown and Robert Beahm.

On May 12, we paid our last tribute to the Seniors of '37 by featuring a Junior-Senior Trip to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, where a delightful day was spent in driving over the battle grounds.

Virginia Estes and Robert Beahm had the honor of participating in the Class Night Program of the Seniors of '37. This climaxed our Junior year.

We began our Senior year with twenty-one prospective graduates; however, there were only nine of the original Freshman Class of '34. One of the first events of the Senior year was the purchasing of the class rings which we had ordered in our Junior year. At the close of the first semester, we were grieved at the loss of one of our members, Dorothy Landes, who felt she could not make the fourth wave on her sea of hopes.

To help the school finances, the seniors entered upon a magazine campaign. We succeeded in selling enough to buy lockers for the athletic equipment of the basketball squads. In this campaign Leo Garman proved his salesmanship ability by securing more subscriptions than anyone else.

The community enjoyed the Senior Play entitled "Dotty and Daffy", which was given in the school auditorium on April 14. Twelve Seniors displayed their dramatic ability as actors.

The Baccalaureate Sermon, which was delivered by Rev. Lake, the pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Warrenton, Virginia, deeply impressed the seniors and the others who attended. Our graduation exercises on June first, with an appropriate address by Mr. Louis Fisher, Chief of Civil Service Commission, brought us over the last wave of our sea of hopes. These services concluded the class history of the seniors in Brentsville District High School.

Prophecy

As I gaze into the crystal of life, I see only memories left of years that have so peacefully glided away.

As the crystal dome slowly turns I can see a faint spot which presently reveals the dear old high school. As I step across the threshold, I see Gertrude Shirkey, who has become Principal of B.D.H.S. She can at last give a sigh and say "I have succeeded". But the crystal turns showing the familiar roads of Nokesville. To my surprise I see Raleigh Nelson driving a large McCormick Reaper over his fields of grain. A faint smile crosses his face as he thinks "All this is mine". Alas! a faint drumming of an airplane is heard in the distance and Raleigh looks up in time to see Junior Owens waving from a non-stop flight from Hawaii--the goal of his dreams.

The old Hometown has held a great attraction; for I see Edna Armstrong softly playing the class song. But Lo! she does not tarry long here at the piano; her class of forty pupils are awaiting their arrival.

The crystal seems to be turning back to the gymnasium, where familiar and strange faces are gathering for the Basketball tournament. Among them I see Hazel Nelson, dressed in a snappy uniform. She has become the girls' Basketball Referee for B.D.H.S.

My, but the crystal turns quickly ---- now it slows down. I see a neat looking sign, "Frederick - Repairs and Autoworks". As I look into the building, I see Roy Frederick giving orders to his men. Just then McDuff Green drives up in a shining car. As Roy sees him he rushes out of the office. McDuff has become senator of Virginia.

Now the crystal becomes a mere turning wheel. A large government building of Washington comes into view. Who should I see in one of the buildings, but Winifred Swank. Winnie has carried out her good qualities in leadership and is the leading business lady of Washington.

Now while the crystal is still, I shall take a tour. Oh! there comes Johnnie Wood with his camera across his shoulder going to the Washington Herald News Office. He is bringing in a story that will take the headlines.

Say, what is that new building not far from the Supreme Court -- "General Clerking and Accounting". As I gaze more intently, I see Billy Hoffman sitting behind the general accountant's desk, and Eloise Frederick, behind a desk marked "Private Secretary". So they have gone into partnership; well, I didn't foresee that. In another office I see a lone man walking to and fro. Oh, it's Harry Bear. Harry has finally decided to be the main general clerk for the government.

I see a neatly dressed young lady walking up Constitution Avenue. It's Virginia Estes. Virginia has become a dietitian and manager of several tea rooms scattered over the U.S.

The crystal turns to John Hopkins' Hospital. Down the steps comes a young lady dressed in a pretty uniform. It is Virginia Horn going off duty. All know her as good, jolly nurse Virginia.

As I gaze further I can see a large baseball diamond in Chicago. Cleveland Flory is playing in a big league game. Bang! he hits the ball and makes a home run. He is not only a professional baseball player, but also a news reporter.

The crystal is turning until I see New York. Why there is my dearest old buddy, Margaret Mayhugh, who is now a sophisticated Latin teacher at Cornell. In another section I see a familiar figure dressed in a stylish aviator's outfit, making his way to a plane named "Swankie". He is heading for Washington, and we can imagine why when we see that it is Clay Wood.

Last, but not least, I see names of two famous personages flashing across Broadway. Leo Garman, the famous comedian is appearing in person at the "Broadway Theater". He still carries that sly humor with him. The second name is Robert Beahm, the great American poet. He has won the Nobel Peace Prize for the best poetry. Now he has become the youngest judge of the Supreme Court, but he is the same Robert.

Now the crystal stops, and I am brought back to the realization that I must get to work. My patients have been waiting a long time for "Nurse Louise".

CLASS WILL

To Mr. Bittle, we leave sole power and authority until a new class takes over.
To Miss Broadbus, we leave our thanks for being here to instruct us so long and our sincere hope that the next school will be just as thankful.

To Miss Morris, we leave our Latin, hoping she will profit by it and be an even better Latin translator.

To Miss Ramsey, we leave our hopes that she gets a good husband.

To Mr. Broyles, we leave our hope that the Junior boys won't worry him as much as did the Senior boys.

To the Junior class, we leave our privileges and good standing.

To the Sophomores, we leave the hope that they will exalt the Junior name.

To the Freshmen, we leave our ability to learn quickly.

Virginia Horn wills her ability to be quiet to Aileen Jones. Virginia thinks she needs it badly.

Gertrude Shirkey wills half her shortness to Billy Harpine and the other half to Harold Hopkins. She wants to remind them that opportunity knocks but once.

Eloise Frederick wills her position as Treasurer to Genevieve Garman. Be honest, Genevieve!

Margaret Mayhugh leaves her literary ability to John Earhart. Your Pa will be pleased, John!

Louise Brown wills her dramatic ability to Edna Garner. Study and you'll succeed, Edna!

Winifred Swank wills her position as substitute teacher to Dorothy Berryman. Don't be too strict, Dot.

Edna Armstrong leaves her position at the piano to Ethel Schaeffer.

Hazel Nelson wills her position as center on the basketball team to Helen Taylor.

Harry Bear wills his bashfulness to Jean Leach. He says from his experience that she needs it badly.

McDuff Green wills his towering height to Harry Smith.

Frederick Hoffman leaves his ice cream stand to Emlyn Herring. But for goodness sakes Emlyn, don't eat up all the profit.

Robert Beahm leaves his stride to Edith Aubrey.

Roy Frederick wills his tardiness for English IV to Lawrence Coverstone. Watch around the corners for Miss Broadbus, Lawrence.

Junior Owens wills his ability to be one of the most undignified of the dignified Seniors to Elwood Long.

Cleveland Flory wills his ability to squeeze out of tight situations to Miller Whetzel.

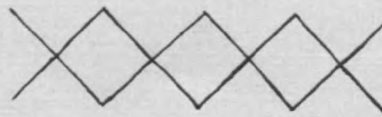

Leo Garman wills his "Bing Crosby, the Second" tenor voice to William Crawford.

Clay Wood wills his fairness of face, minus the freckles, to Ray Neff. Hurry and find a drug store remedy, Ray!

Raleigh Nelson wills his center Basketball position to Marion Miller.

I, John Wood, leave my ability to waste time to Mary White. Don't arouse Mr. Bittle ire, Mary.

Motto:

"Towering ambition travels a rough road."

The Juniors presented a play, "Bashful Bobby", on Thursday night, March 31, 1938. The characters were as follows:

Billy Harpine, Marion Miller, Elwood Long, Raymond Spittle, Flory Diehl, Lucile Foster, Kathleen Garman, Wilma Lee Wood, June Foster, Sadie Smith, and Genevieve Garman.

The play was a group of young high school students, chaperoned by an old maid school teacher. The action was fast and the laughs were frequent. The hypnotism of Harry Collins was an added attraction to the entire play. To climax the action, Bob Downing was forced to make love to his sweetheart.

One of our Junior girls, Jean Leach, missed three weeks of school, due to an appendicitis operation. The Junior class sent flowers to her to show our sympathy.

Many of the Junior girls took an active part in basketball. Those who were on the teams were: Marie Herndon, Lucile Foster, June Foster, Dorothy Berryman, Jean Leach, Kathleen Garman, Genevieve Garman.

SOPHOMORES

Front Row: Ellis, Spitler, Bittle, Rollins, Mayhugh;
 Second Row: Hopkins, Herndon, Miller, Clear, Spitzer, Diehl, McMichael;
 Third Row: Hyde, Rice, Fitzwater, Hopkins;
 Fourth Row: May, Harpine, Shepherd, Stultz, Spittle, Diehl, Ross, Squires;
 Top Row: Landes, Herring;

When we began our second year in high school, we found that many changes had been made. Our class was moved into the Agricultural building with Mr. Broyles, a new instructor, in charge.

We soon met to organize our class and the following officers were elected:

President: John Bittle
 Vice President: Albert Rollins
 Secretary and Treasurer: Gordon Ellis
 Reporter: Ernest Spitler, Jr.
 Chairman of Program Committee: Harry Mayhugh

Our class colors were blue and gold, the same as we had during our Freshman year. Our class flower was the red rose. It was agreed that we should meet the first Wednesday of each month.

At the beginning of the second semester, we reorganized the class electing the following officers:

President: Vada Lee Stultz
 Vice President: Bessie Wilson
 Secretary and Treasurer: Virginia Hyde
 Reporter: Betty McMichael
 Chairman of Program Committee: Helen May

On the evening of April 12 our class met in the Agricultural building for a social gathering.

Front Row: Hurst, Whetzel, Herring, Green, Smith, Neff;
 Second Row: Keys, Moore, Kerns, House, Gough, Eyrd, Landes, Hale;
 Third Row: Joyce, Russel, Tolson, Randall, Fearneyhough, Gough, Earhart, Runion;
 Fourth Row: Nolley, Crawford, Squires;
 Top Row: Whetzel, Hale, Earhart, Seese;

Officers:

President: Harry Smith
 Vice President: Owen Hurst
 Secretary and Treasurer: Eugene Nolley
 Chairman of Program Committee: Frances Hale
 Reporter: Elsie Gough

Class Colors:
 White and Green

Class Flower:
 White Rose

Class Motto:
 "Onward and Upward"

In September our class numbered 34. During the year we have lost eight members. This has been a year of adjustment for us, but by now we feel that we are adapted to the ways of high school and as the year comes to a close we are eagerly looking forward to becoming Sophomores.

Our activities, which are: assembly programs, charity boxes, weenie roast, and outdoor sports have been enjoyed by everyone.

Future Farmers of America

The following officers of the Nokesville Chapter of Future Farmers took office at the beginning of the term:

President: Conway Owens, Jr.
 Vice President: Elwood Long
 Secretary: John Wood
 Treasurer: Marion Miller
 Reporter: McDuff Green, Jr.
 Adviser: T. N. Broyles

At the beginning of the year, committees were appointed to make objectives, and set up standards for the year.

The chapter held a Weenie Roast in October and had as their guests the Home Economics Girls. During November, the Junior and Senior class went to the Experimental Farm in Beltsville, Maryland. We also sent a Judging Team to the Grain and Seed Show at Lincoln. The chapter put on a radio program on March 12, which was well rendered. Before school closes we hope to sponsor a Federation Dairy Judging Contest.

HOME ECONOMICS

The two Home Economic classes met in December and organized a "Taste and Baste Club." Officers for the year were elected as follows:

President-----Grace Rice
 Vice President-----June Foster
 2nd Vice President-----Betty McMichael
 Secretary and Treasurer-----Ruth House
 Reporter-----Pearl Hope Shepherd

We adopted "Keep the home fires burning" as our motto and yellow and brown as our colors.

At our first meeting of the year we set up aims for each successive month.

Last fall we were very successful in sponsoring an oyster supper. Then on March the ninth we sponsored a "Little Broadcast". We are working on a bed spread now, which we hope to have finished before school closes.

As a whole we have had a very successful year and are very proud to be members of the first class to be in the new Home Economics cottage.

Front Row: G. Garman, Leach, Taylor, Shepherd, K. Garman
Back Row: Estes, Fearneyhough, Nelson, Herndon, Miss Broadus (Coach)
J. Foster, Berryman, L. Foster

The girls have had a rather inactive year. At the beginning of the year, groups were organized within our athletic association for basketball, baseball, hiking, and dodge ball. However, bad weather and irregularity of schedule kept us from the sports except basketball in which so few girls can participate.

We enjoyed the sportsmanship and fellowship with the players on the various teams. The following is the list of scores for the girls basketball games:

Occoquan	16	Nokesville	22	Here
Occoquan	17	Nokesville	19	There
Aldie	29	Nokesville	22	There
Washington	27	Nokesville	16	There
Haymarket	15	Nokesville	15	Here
Fairfax	9	Nokesville	30	Here
Fredericksburg	37	Nokesville	16	Here
Fredericksburg	25	Nokesville	6	There

Several others were called upon to "fill in" when some of the players were absent. Soft ball teams were organized and the girls enjoyed many happy moments in the open air. Also, tennis was enjoyed by those girls who did not desire to play soft ball.

The girls deeply appreciate the tables that Mr. Wells made for table tennis. Next year the girls will have one other sport to engage in. Those tables for table tennis will also be serviceable for other purposes.

The Seniors of '38 leave you now hoping that you have better luck in sports in the succeeding years.

E. R. F.

Front Row: Roy Frederick, Leo Garman, Cleveland Flory;
Back Row: Marion Miller, Clay Wood, Raleigh Nelson, Robert Beahm, Conway Owens, Jr.,
Billy Harpine

The basketball boys organized early and elected their captain and manager, Leo Garman and Robert Beahm, respectively.

After a hard practice for several weeks, the boys played Occoquan as their first opponents. This first victory gave the team confidence and courage.

The team played nine games, winning eight of them; this was very good considering we did not have a regular coach--we owe much of our success to the principal who gave us many "pointers".

The games were:

Occoquan	10	Nokesville	26	Here	Haymarket	13	Nokesville	34	Here
Occoquan	14	Nokesville	21	There	Quantico	12	Nokesville	19	Here
Aldie	26	Nokesville	34	There	Quantico	25	Nokesville	27	There
Washington	23	Nokesville	29	There	Fairfax	27	Nokesville	26	Here

The team had the opportunity to play the Junior Varsity at Bridgewater on March 5 under the supervision of Joyce Garman, due to the fact that Mr. Bittle was unable to go.

Many boys went out for baseball; however, only a few games were played. Our first game was played at Occoquan where we suffered a defeat of 4 - 2.

Just before winter set in, the boys organized a track team. One-fourth of a mile track was marked off and other necessary things such as a high jump, broad jump, and hurdles. We had planned to have a track meet some time in May, but we found that we could not possibly go through with the scheme.

The soccer team was organized with Raleigh Nelson as captain. Although the boys didn't have a very successful season, they anticipate better luck next season. We were fortunate enough to win one game out of five.

We, the Seniors of B.D.H.S., do sincerely thank those who gave us advertisements which made it possible for us to finance our Annual. We think that everyone in our community should patronize those who have been so kind to us.
